

TOOK ABALONES BY PERMIT OF FOOD MEN, NO FINE ASKED

On Jan. 1 All Authority By U. S. Over State Fish Laws to Be Given Up

This morning charges of taking abalones illegally were settled in Justice Goepfer's court by the suspending of sentences against the Japs then in court. This was done upon the testimony of W. C. Crandall, United States fish commissioner for Southern California, and of Norman Hendrickson, U. S. chief inspector of fisheries for the district, who said that the Japs were taking abalones under a Federal order issued by them.

Following the trial of the case, the two Federal men said that Orange county cannot expect to continue to hold the state law that prevents the taking of abalones by divers.

"Information has been gathered by the Fish & Game Commission," said they, "to show that abalones in deep water propagate and die of old age, and nobody gets the good of them unless diving is permitted. The taking of abalones by divers under proper regulation will not harm in the least the taking of abalones by citizens along the shore."

The Japs were arrested under a state law. In court, the Federal food men accepted full responsibility. They said that the easiest way to clear the records was for the Japs to plead guilty and take suspended sentences. It developed that the Japs were employed by a cannery at San Pedro.

Crandall said that on Jan. 1st the permission for taking abalones will automatically be revoked, for an order has gone out from the Federal food authorities giving up all rights taken over by the Federal fish men as war emergency measures to increase the food supply. On Jan. 1st the state law will again prevail in everything excepting that the catching of sardines can continue under Federal permit until May 31st. On Jan. 1st the selling of whiting, corbina and salt water perch, the carrying of a drag net in District No. 19 and the taking of underweight halibut and barracuda and the taking of abalones by divers will again be unlawful.

The case was heard this morning before Justice Goepfer, sitting for Justice Cox.

APPOINTS THREE UPON RAILROAD COMMISSION

Only One of the Three Comes South and That Goes to Brundige, Los Angeles

Governor Stephens has announced that he will appoint Harley W. Brundige of Los Angeles, former managing editor of the Earl papers; Irving Martin, a Stockton editor, and H. D. Loveland of San Francisco as members of the railroad commission. Mr. Brundige is to succeed himself, while Brundige and Martin are to take places made vacant by Max Thelan of Berkeley, who has accepted a position with the War Department, and Alexander Gordon of San Francisco, term expired.

These appointments are of more than usual interest to those intimately interested in politics in California, and particularly in this end of the state where there were a number of candidates for the appointment.

Three Who Applied

Dr. J. D. Thomas of Olive, R. L. Riley of Colton, chairman of the Board of Supervisors of San Bernardino county, and Montgomery Moulton of San Diego, county assessor of San Diego county, were among the aspirants for positions on the railroad commission.

Among the politicians it was known that there would be three vacancies to be filled on the commission, and it was generally conceded that Brundige of Los Angeles would get one of the appointments. It was thought, however, that two of the appointments would go south of the Tehachapi. In that the politicians guessed wrong, just as they had guessed wrong when they took it for granted that two members of the new appellate court would be named from Los Angeles. When the appellate court appointments were made they were Judge Finlayson of Los Angeles and two from outside, Thomas of Santa Ana and Sloan of San Diego.

The significance of the appointment of Irving Martin of Stockton to the railroad commission is of peculiar interest here for the reason that Martin is a member of the State Water Commission. Martin has been and still is a member of the State Water Commission, which pays its three members $5,000 a year apiece. He goes from a rather inactive commission to an active commission at a salary of $8,000.

May Only Be One

There has been a good deal of talk of revamping the Water Commission and making it a more useful commission. There has been some talk, as the result of the annual report of the commission, of reducing the number of water commissioners to one. If it is proposed to cut down the commission, then it would appear that the appointment of Martin was partly as a means of taking care of him in view of the pending action. On the other hand, if it is proposed to keep three water commissioners there is a possibility that Martin's successor might be named from Southern California. One of the commissioners, W. A. Johnstone, is from San Dimas.

The only application, so far as known here, that has been put in for appointment for water commissioner is that put in by Attorney J. C. Burke of Santa Ana, former assemblyman. Burke's application has not been pushed by him in any way. What his chances are in view of the fact that the administration has not disclosed what it plans the future of the commission shall be are not known here.

Another matter that is of interest to those interested in appointive politics is that of State Highway Commissioner. Supervisor S. H. Finley of Santa Ana is one of those who have applied. The governor has made no public announcement of his intentions.

PARIS IS JOYFUL AT CHRISTMASTIDE

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS (United Press Staff Correspondent).

PARIS, Dec. 21.—Allied diplomats caught in the backwash of the Christmastide are "carrying on" with unofficial pour parlers until 1919.

Packed with the most distinguished gathering in its history, Paris was joyously capitulated to the holiday spirit. Big Berthas and Gothas belong to the stone age. Santa Claus is premier.

The city is illuminated by night and gay with bunting by day. The victory flag has been added to the usual Christmas decorations.

Shops are stuffed with the most fascinating and costly of women's bed-dimensions. Jewelers display the richest gewgaws ever seen here. Restaurants, expensive and gay, are overflowing. The boulevards hold the greatest throngs since the exposition. Temporary toy booths line the sidewalks. Merchants are hawking mistletoe, holly and evergreens. Fakirs are vending kamaerading rubber kaisers and capulating tin huns. Topical songs regarding President Wilson and Premier Clemenceau are being sung in the theaters and music halls, where S. R. O. signs are common. The people appear to have totally forgotten the war. So far as they are concerned, peace is already signed.

The uninterrupted succession of emperors, kings, presidents and princes has become as spectacular as part of a colossal carnival.

MINERS TO WORK ON FUNERAL DAYS TO INCREASE PRODUCTION

It has been the custom in American anthracite coal fields for many years for employees of a colliery to remain away from work on the day of the funeral of any fellow worker who has been killed at the colliery. In order to prevent the loss of tonnage which follows the observance of this custom the operators and the leaders of the mine workers have agreed that the collieries shall work on the day of the funeral.

It is agreed that a committee of six shall be appointed to attend the funeral and the company is to pay the day's wages of the six men on the committee. In addition the companies have agreed to pay the nearest heirs of the worker killed the sum of $150 over and above the compensation allowed by law.

This agreement, designed to increase production, is another indication of the steadily growing spirit of co-operation between operators and mine workers.—Official Bulletin.

TRYING TO SOLVE POISONING DEATH

SUOKANE, Wash., Dec. 21.—City detectives today are examining every drug store in the city, checking up recent purchases of strychnine in the hope of finding a clue which will clear the mystery that still clouds the death of Miss Rosa Kempf, a week ago.

A post-mortem revealed enough strychnine to kill three or four people, according to the city chemists.

Meantime, William Delaney, an ardent suitor of Miss Kempf's, to whom it was first reported she was to be married next week is held in the city jail without bail, charged with cashing a bogus check.

The girl's real fiancé, Karl F. Reiniger, at the Puget Sound Naval Training station, came home yesterday. He told the police that he and the girl had been engaged three years and were to have been married upon his discharge from the service.

Dr. Erich T. Richter, the girl's physician, late yesterday declared that the girl stoutly denied having taken poison when he attended her a few hours before death. She admitted, however, eating candy given her by Delaney. She said it tasted bitter.

Delaney was at the home when Dr. Richter called. Dr. Richter asked Delaney for a sample of the candy but Delaney told him he was "mad" and had thrown the candy in the stove.

W. S. S. SHEEP DIP ON STREETS
SAN DIEGO, Dec. 21.—San Diego resembled a sheep farm this morning in odor at least, for last night all of the principal streets were thoroughly washed in sheep dip by the health department as a preventive measure for the "flu."

The measure was tried in Brawley, Imperial Valley, with excellent results, it is said. Yesterday the City Council determined to try out the plan of disinfecting the streets by using the solution of one gallon of sheep dip to seventy gallons of water. It was applied by the sprinkling wagons.

There were but fifteen new cases of influenza and six deaths yesterday, the disease being steadily on the decline.

GIFTS FOR 500 BOYS AND GIRLS OF THIS CITY

California National to Present
50 Cents to Children
on Tuesday

The California National bank is going to give $250 to 500 boys and girls of this city the day before Christmas. It is going to give 50 cents to every boy or girl who opens a savings account with it on that date. In addition to this it will provide each with a small steel bank in which slippies pennies and nickels may be thrown as they come into the hands of the young bank depositors.

Boys and girls, between ages of 8 and 15 years, who come to the bank between 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. next Tuesday and open accounts with the California National will each be given a sturdy little steel bank and a savings account pass book, showing a deposit of 50 cents to the credit of each. The 50 cents will belong to the boys and girls and draw 4 per cent. compound interest, provided they save the pennies and nickels they earn and deposit at least $5.00 during the year 1919.

This is a most creditable plan inaugurated by this bank and is but one of the many evidences of the California National's constructive banking policy.

W. S. S. AD WOLGAST, BOXER, IS HELD TO BE SANE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion of the world, was adjudged competent to handle his $90,000 estate in Judge Rives' court late yesterday. His sanity was vouched for by two physicians who have been examining him for several weeks past, the case being continued twice to allow them sufficient time for their tests.

The hearing brought out that Wolgast entered a Michigan sanitarium under the inducement of Jess Willard and that Willard's wife kept him there eighteen months.

W. S. S. TO GUARD AGAINST INFLUENZA
—Don't let the dread influenza get you. If you have even the slightest cough or cold, better begin using Foley's Honey and Tar at once. Henry Willis, Sandy Point, Texas, is one of many thousands who consider this remedy "just fine." He says: "I suffered severely with a bad cough; after using four or five dollars' worth of different medicines decided to try Foley's Honey and Tar. One bottle gave relief. Best medicine I ever used." Contains no opiates. Rowley Drug Co.—Adv.

COAST CITIES TO TRY TO BLOCK INTER-CITY OUTFALL

Propose Incorporation of 15-Foot Strip Between Newport and Huntington

The South Coast Improvement Association, composed of representatives of cities along the coast, including Orange county, is developing plans to block the cities of Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim and Fullerton in their efforts to build jointly an outfall sewer to the ocean.

A meeting of the association was held Tuesday night at which representatives of Sunset Beach, Seal Beach, Huntington Beach and Newport Beach were among those present. The situation with reference to the cities reaching tidewater was discussed thoroughly and methods for blocking the enterprise were discussed.

It was decided that effort should be made to incorporate a strip of the beach front fifteen feet wide extending from Newport Beach to Huntington Beach, if, after investigation of the legal side of the situation, it was found that such procedure would prove effective in preventing the ocean outfall.

The city of Santa Ana owns a fifteen-foot right of way to the ocean, purchased six years ago from the Willows Land Company. The right of way is deeded property and it is believed it will hold against incorporation of such a strip.

The action of the South Coast Improvement Company was brought to the attention of the inter-city committees appointed by the city councils of the four cities at a meeting last night held in the mayor's office at the city hall. All cities were represented except Orange, the committee from that city not attending because of the belief that the light rain of last night would cause a postponement of the session.

City Councilman McPhee of this city, who was made chairman of the committee at the meeting held at Fullerton recently, presided. He gave a brief account of the various steps this city has taken toward installing a line to the ocean, starting six years ago with the acquisition of the strip of land and an easement over county property to a point within a quarter of a mile of the strip it purchased.

Relation of the action of the South Coast association, while being a big surprise to the members of the committee, did not dampen their ardor in the proposed method of solving the troubles of the four cities in disposal of sewage.

They will proceed with their plans, the concrete action of the conference last night was authorization of the committees to have the cities' attorneys get together and go into legal features of installing a system jointly as proposed, the attorneys to report their decisions at a meeting to be held in their city at the same place next Friday evening. A week later the South Coast Improvement Association will be asked to meet with the committee in this city.

The committees present last night were as follows:
Santa Ana—City Councilmen Geo. McPhee and J. W. Tubbs and Engineer S. H. Finley.

Anaheim—Trustees Ralph McFadden and F. A. Backs.
Fullerton—Trustees A. H. Sifton and Robert Strain and Engineer W. J. Renshaw.

W. S. S. 10 or 15 tons of stable manure. We can make a delivered price that will interest you. Ramsey's Transfer. Telephone 911-W, day or night; 503 East Fourth.

TO BENCH AND BAR

The Register desires to add its word of appreciation and admiration to the expression of the Orange County Bar Association given in honor of Judge West, Judge Thomas and Attorney Williams, soon to become a judge, and to further express its admiration for the bar of Orange County.

The conduct of the business of the superior courts of Orange County has been remarkably free from court clashes of an undesirable nature and from entanglements such as some of the courts of the land are called upon to regret. Not only has there been a spirit of co-operation between bench and bar, which in itself means much in the way of fair conclusions in behalf of litigants, but there has been maintained in Orange County an unusually high standard of fairness and frankness between attorneys and clients.

The Orange County bar is free from the pestiferous practices of the shyster lawyer, the kind of man who disgraces his profession by bringing actions that he knows ought not to be brought, merely that he may worm a fee out of a client, the kind of lawyer who takes advantage of his client to rob him. It is free of the lawyer whose ability and ambition are measured by the faculty and desire to grab the remnants of cash that an unfortunate prisoner may have—the kind of a lawyer generally known as a police court hanger-on.

Attorneys from Orange County who go into Los Angeles courts or into any other courts in the state to try cases against the shining lights of the bar of the state have everything to be proud of. Their legal ability, their handling of cases and the results they obtain stand the test of comparison with the best talent in the state. That the bar here is of a high order, that the spirit of fair play with clients prevails, that advice is honestly given—these are doubtless the reasons why practically all of the litigation in the Orange County courts is attended to by Orange County lawyers, which is as it should be and as it is sincerely hoped it always will be.

To the judges who have served this county well, to the judge who goes to the appellate court, to the attorney who is to become a judge, the Register offers its congratulations, and for judges and attorneys alike it could wish no better thing than that the same spirit of fair play that prevails throughout the Orange County bench and bar may continue as the outstanding factor in all its relations and activities.

INDEMNITIES

To Americans, that $120,000,000,000 which Lloyd George says the Allies will demand of Germany is of little more than academic interest. We are not directly concerned with it because we expect no share of it, save perhaps the few hundred millions necessary to cover the cost of American lives and property illegally destroyed by the German submarines.

Our Allies frankly announce their intention, or at least their desire, to make Germany pay "the whole cost of the war." We cannot blame them for that. They were the innocent victims of the great German military conspiracy. They have suffered incomparably more than we. They are the best judges of their rights in the matter.

The expense of settling our own quarrel with Germany is estimated at about $20,000,000,000. It will amount to more in the end, no doubt, but that sum will cover the direct and immediate cost of the job. There is no expectation that our peace delegates will demand that sum, or any part of it, as a compensatory indemnity. Our government expressly disclaimed and renounced the hope of indemnity when we entered the war, and the public has acquiesced. We regard that $20,000,000,000,000 as partly a philanthropic contribution to mankind, and partly as insurance against any German peril that otherwise would have menaced our future.

As for Great Britain, France, Belgium and other victims of German perfidy and violence, the American view is that they deserve all the damages they can collect without absolutely destroying Germany or harming themselves in the process. The most they can possibly obtain will not be as much as they ought to have.

The Rhine is only half German now, and there's no certainty about that half.

PRAISE FOR PERSHING

It takes a military man fully to appreciate a military man. From Col. Repington, the distinguished British war critic, comes this heart-warming encomium for the American commander:

"To my mind there was nothing finer in the war than the splendid good comradeship displayed throughout by Gen. Pershing, and there was nothing more striking than the determined way in which he pursued his original plan of making the American army feared and respected."

The handling of his forces, with raw troops continually arriving, involved him in difficulties which Col. Repington describes as "appalling." But Pershing was not appalled. The cries for help from the British and French sectors "left him for a long time almost, if not quite, without an army." But though his heart was set on a distinctly American achievement, he never grudged the men and never complained. He knew what he was about.

"He played the game set by his friends, but all the time with a singleness of purpose and strength of character which history will applaud. Always his eyes were fixed on the great strategic objective which he ultimately attained, silencing his petty and paltry detractors in attaining it."

"To his firm and steadfast spirit we owe much. To his staff, cool and cheerful amid the most perturbing events, unperturbed by panic, rapid in decision, quick in action, the Allies and the world owe tribute."

Americans are glad and proud to have their own appraisal of Gen. Pershing thus corroborated by a man who knows and does not flatter. There were those in America who questioned Pershing's fitness for his big job when he went to France. But the questions and doubts were long since silenced. America recognizes in Pershing a great soldier added to her list of immortals.

SEND A BOOK

There will be for months soldiers in our army hospitals coming slowly back to health, some of them never to be quite well, some of them to remain for all their lives crippled or blind, just because they were brave. There is little that can be done by the casual individual to show his gratitude to these boys, but there is one way open to everybody, and that is to send a good, interesting, lively new book to the nearest library or receiving station to be sent to the military hospitals.

Getting well is tedious work, doubly so when it must be in a hospital, though it is there the boys will receive the best care known to science. A book helps to fill the time which otherwise must be given to moody imaginings, to melancholy or nervous fears.

Send a book. The boy who will benefit by it is there in the hospital for you.

German papers comment on the fact that the American soldiers occupying German cities are very courteous, demanding only the surrender of arms but in no other way interfering with the citizens, even the newspapers enjoying full liberty of publication. Of course the Germans wonder at such behavior on the part of a victorious army. They don't know yet that they failed to Prussianize the world.

The ex-kaiser went to church in Holland, and the little Dutch parson preached a sermon from a text beginning, "Humble yourselves." Probably by now Wilhelm has had the parson "strafed," but anyway somebody has said it to him at last.

A paragrapher sings:
"A thing that we should like to know
About the former kaiser;
No doubt he is a sadder man,
But is he any wiser?"

"Sure! He's stopped talking."

FOUNTAIN VALLEY SCHOOL RE-CLOSED

Several Are Recovering From Influenza In Talbert; Mrs. Berry Stice Ill

(Miss Leora Blakey, Correspondent)
TALBERT, Dec. 21.—The Fountain Valley school re-closed Tuesday morning. The pupils were dismissed as soon as they reached school that morning, following the decision of the trustees that it should close on account of the epidemics now prevalent in the community.

A son was born Thursday morning Dec. 19, to Mr. and Mrs. C. Kern. The baby has been named Roy Frank. The family live on the Leo Borchard ranch, Kern being an employe on the ranch.

Entertained at McAdoo Home
Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ward visited Thursday evening at Garden Grove at the home of Mrs. Ward's uncle, Robt. Elliott. The Wards were especially to see their cousin, Wesley Elliott, whom they had not seen since last spring at which time he entered the naval aviation service and was sent to Mississippi. He returned Wednesday evening, completely surprising his family whom he had not apprised of his discharge. Elliott lacked but sixteen hours flying of earning a lieutenant when orders for his dismissal were received. He was then sent to Boston but the school there was full and could not accept him so he was given his choice of transferring to the army aviation service and completing his course or of receiving an immediate discharge. He chose the latter, but was given a delightful trip to New York and Washington before his release. At the latter place he was one of thirty flying cadets who were entertained at the home of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo by his son, Walter McAdoo, who was a member of the same flying corps.

Everett Stockton Goes Home
Mrs. Hugo Lamb's brother, Everett Stockton of Wintersburg who has been very ill at her home with pneumonia is regaining his strength rapidly and was able to return home on Wednesday.

R. L. Callens Up Again
R. L. Callens was able to be up again Thursday following his illness with influenza and his daughter, Miss Marie, was up part of the day Friday for the first time.

C. Kern who is ill at his home with the "flu" was reported some better on Thursday, his fever having been broken that day. The two little girls who have also had it, are up and about now. Mrs. Kern's mother came Wednesday from Bolsa and is caring for the sick.

Berry Stice Family Ill
Mrs. L. T. Wells' daughter, Mrs. Berry Stice, of Santa Ana, is very ill with the influenza and at the last report was fighting hard to prevent pneumonia from setting in. Mr. Stice and his brother, Albert Stice, who lives with them, were also taken ill at the same time and found it impossible to get any one to care for them for several days, until on Sunday their cousin, Mrs. Preston, of Buena Park, came down to remain with them.

Sends Christmas Greetings
A letter containing Christmas greetings was received by the F. D. Plavan family the first of the week from their cousin, Franklin Combs, who was in France on the date of writing, November 25. Combs was in training at Fort McArthur previous to leaving for overseas and was a frequent visitor here. Two of his brothers also are in the service, one being stationed in Ireland and the other in France, having reached there two days before the armistice was signed.

Mrs. Mary V. Bushard of Los Angeles spent several days the past week with relatives in this vicinity.

Clyde Plavan is expected home within the next week as the last of the cadets of the Oregon Agricultural College will be mustered out of service by the 21st of December, and he will come directly home.

Miss Jessie Courreges, who has been ill in Los Angeles at the home of her sister the past two weeks with influenza, was expected to return home Sunday as she is now convalescent.

Thomas Wells of Long Beach, an uncle of L. T. Wells, came out to the Wells ranch Tuesday for a few days. Upon his return home Friday he was accompanied by his nephew, Milton Wells, wife and daughter, who will spend several days visiting with him and his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wells entertained at supper Friday evening Walter Wells of Huntington Beach.

Hospital Rooms Are Full

Miss Grace Malan, who left here the latter part of August for the California Hospital, where she is taking the nurses' training course, came home for a few hours Wednesday evening, arriving at 6 o'clock and leaving at 11 on her return to duty. This is her first visit home. She now has won her cap and is getting along nicely with her work. The hospital force has been unusually busy lately as every room in the hospital, with the exception of two, has been full the past two weeks. Although contagious diseases are not taken at the hospital, many of the patients supposed to have other diseases develop the influenza, so the nurses at the institution are forced to take precautions the same as though they were in contagious wards.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wells and family and their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wells and daughter, were at Newport and Balboa on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Borchard and family, Caspar Borchard and son, Caspar Borchard, Jr. and daughter, Miss Mary Borchard, came down from Mayberry Park Tuesday of this week and visited until Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Borchard of this place, Frank Borchard of Huntington Beach, Antonio Borchard of Greenville and Chas. Borchard of Fairview.

Income Tax Ruling of Especial Interest to Farmers

Treasury Department
Office of Collector of Internal Revenue
Los Angeles, California.

To Those Individuals Whose Principal Income Is Derived from Farming or Ranching Operations.

A special form of income tax return designated as Form D1 has been provided for the use of individuals whose principal income is derived from farming or ranching operations. These forms will be furnished by this office to those in need of same upon application.

A record of income received and amounts paid out for expenses should be kept by farmers and ranchers in such a manner that they will have the necessary data available at the close of the year to enter upon the return referred to. General instructions relative to the preparation of returns by farmers, ranchers, etc., are given below:

Inventories
This return may be used by farmers who take inventories of crops, livestock, etc., on hand at the end of each year (and thereby include in their income the value of the products raised but not sold). It may also be used by those who do not take inventories. Separate summary forms are provided for farmers who use inventories and for those who do not.

The Government prefers the inventory method, as it shows each year's income more accurately. The total amount of tax due will be substantially the same under either method, as the sale price of all products raised must eventually be included in income.

The inventory method can not be used, however, unless you actually took an inventory at the beginning and end of the year for which your return is made.

If you made an inventory of animals, crops, products, and supplies on hand December 31, 1916, and December 31, 1917, enter the amount of both inventories on the return. You may include in such inventories livestock, crops, etc., produced on the farm. Livestock purchased for draft, breeding, or dairy purposes, or for any purpose other than resale, may be included in the inventory at a figure which will reflect the reduction in value estimated to have occurred through age or other causes. Such a reduction in value should be based on the cost and estimated life of the stock. The opening and closing inventories must cover exactly the same classes of items. The opening inventory must be the same figure as the closing inventory of the year before.

If inventories are used, losses of livestock bought for resale, or of any other articles included in your inventories, are not deductible as such losses will be reflected in the inventories.

What to Report as Income
All income from whatever source derived, must be included in this return, except the items enumerated below, under "Receipts exempt from tax."

Only income actually received need be included, but this does not mean that the taxpayer must receive cash. Anything of value received instead of cash must be considered income to the extent of its cash value. Any income received by your wife or dependent children under eighteen must be included in the return, unless wife or child made a separate return.

Receipts Exempt from Tax
The following classes of receipts are exempt from income tax, and need not be reported:

1. Salaries, wages, etc., received from states and political subdivisions thereof, such as cities, counties, townships.

2. Gifts, not made as a consideration for service rendered, and legacies (but the income derived from money or property received as a gift or legacy is taxable and must be reported.)

3. Interest on bonds of the United States issued before September 1, 1917, and on bonds issued since that date, provided no more than $5000 worth are owned.

4. Interest on bonds of United States possessions (Philippines, Porto Rico, Canal Zone.)

5. Interest on bonds of states and political subdivisions thereof, such as cities, counties and townships.

6. Interest on Federal Farm Loan bonds.

7. Proceeds of life insurance policies paid on the death of the insured, and payments to policyholders under endowment and similar policies, provided such payments do not exceed the premiums paid in is income and must be reported.

Deductions
Report as deductions only amounts ACTUALLY PAID OUT in carrying on your business. Do not deduct personal or family expenses.

TAXES—Do not deduct inheritance or estate taxes, Federal income taxes, drainage taxes, or taxes for any improvement or betterment. Be ready to show tax receipts, if possible.

INSURANCE—Do not deduct premiums for insurance on dwelling you occupy, or life insurance premiums.

LABOR—Do not deduct amounts paid to your own minor children unless you also report payments in section B (page 4 as income to them (which must be included in your income). Do not deduct amounts paid to persons engaged in work in or around your dwelling.

REPAIRS—Do not deduct the cost of any permanent improvements or betterments to farm buildings, or of new machinery. Do not deduct the cost of repairs to the dwelling you occupy.

DEPRECIATION—Depreciation of farm buildings and equipment NOT OFFSET BY REPAIRS may be deducted.

The depreciation claimed should not exceed the actual cost of the property divided by its probable life in years. Do not deduct depreciation on your dwelling or household furniture. If you have calculated your income by the inventory method (see instructions under "Inventories") do not claim under "Depreciation" any reduction in the value of articles that are included in your inventory at a figure which reflects the reduction in value. (See also caution under "Automobile expenses," below.)

LOSSES—You may deduct losses resulting from fires, storms, or other casualties, not compensated for by insurance or otherwise. However, if you calculate your income by the inventory method, you may not deduct losses of any property included in your inventory.

If you do not use inventories, you may deduct the actual cost of PURCHASED livestock lost by disease or injury. The cost of livestock raised on the farm may not be deducted.

AUTOMOBILE EXPENSES—You may deduct the expense of operation, repairs, and depreciation of automobiles used exclusively in your business and partly for pleasure, the claim for expense must be clearly established before it can be allowed.

Additional instructions showing how the return should be filled out are printed on the form of return itself, which as stated above will be furnished you upon application to this office.

Respectfully,
JOHN P. CARTER, Collector.

You've heard of all kinds of Gods, but we'll wager you never heard tell of a "Fly" God. The Gods are supposed to be all powerful, but can you picture a common, ordinary, garden variety of house-fly deciding a question of life and death? That is exactly what happens in this Roy Stewart western when Bob Allers faces death. "The Fly God" is another of those amusing, heart and human interest magazine stories of the Red Saunders series.

CHRISTMAS REHEARSAL

C. A. Gustlin, Accompanist
For Artist, Says Great Treat
In Store Wednesday

Clarence A. Gustlin, who will be accompanist for Harold Proctor, the well known tenor, who will be the attraction at six o'clock Christmas day at the community service, says that a great treat is in store for all who go to Birch Park on Wednesday, the program to be a most fitting ending to the glorious day, which it is hoped Santa Ana will enjoy.

Mr. Gustlin had a rehearsal last evening with Mr. Proctor and says he possesses a wonderful voice. His selections are a Christmas solo, "The Star of Bethlehem," by Stephen Adams, who wrote "The Holy City."

A patriotic feature will be the singing of a beautiful new song, written by Mrs. Gertrude Ross of Los Angeles, entitled, "Sons of the Flag." Mr. Gustlin counts it one of the best songs of the war.

There will be community singing and printed programs are in preparation so that all may have the words and join in the choruses.

Mr. Proctor has been engaged for a four-year term with the Redpath Chautauqua Bureau.

Greetings From France

Mrs. H. S. Gordon has received a card from Bob Brown, who was a guest at her home during the stay here of the 145th (Utah) Artillery and is now in France. He extends greetings to all his Santa Ana friends and says "this is the greatest Christmas in history since the first and a time for joy and thanksgiving."

South Methodist Program

The following is the Christmas program at the Spurgeon Methodist Episcopal Church, South:

11 a. m. Orange prelude, "Christmas Morning" (Lemmens); anthem, "The Promised One" (Macey); solo, "The Good Shepherd" (Obari), Jas. Nuckolls. Sermon, "The Coming of Christ," A. T. O'Rear, pastor; organ postlude.

7 p. m. Organ prelude, Prelude by Handel; anthem, "O! Holy Night" (Adam); solo, "The Redeemer" (Shelly), Mrs. Freda Barger; offertory, "Holy Night" (Decker); sermon, "God's Great Gift," A. T. O'Rear, pastor; organ postlude.

Choir director, James Nuckolls; organist, Miss Hester Covington.

FAMILY DINNER

Mrs. F. S. Clark Hostess to Sister's Family, Including
Sailor Son and Wife

Mrs. F. S. Clark entertained at a delightful family dinner last evening, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Darsie L. Darsie of Berkeley, the young sailor having obtained Christmas leave and surprising his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Darsie, by arriving unannounced yesterday.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Darsie L. Darsie, Rev. and Mrs. Darsie, Miss Helen Darsie of Glendale, and the hostess.

Where Ideals Are Made

As a vital part of the plans for reconstruction, education stands in the foreground. To quote W. F. Bigelow in November Good Housekeeping:

"I would therefore urge that the people give generous support to their schools of all grades and that the schools adjust themselves as wisely as possible to the new conditions, to the end that no boy or girl shall have less opportunity for education because of the war and that the nation may be strengthened as it can only be through the right education of all its people." These words by President Wilson should be read in connection with the tax bills which will be presented to so large a part of the nation's households this month and next. In most of them the tax for education will be by far the biggest item. Indeed in many municipalities and even states it will be more than all the other items put together. Which is as it should be, for education is the very foundation stone of the republic. Without it we should be another Russia or perhaps a Germany. With it we are free, and we shall remain free as long as we insist upon the upkeep of the institutions that have brought us to our present place in the world's affairs. Many things in our schools are open to criticism, but we should stand by them for their correction and upbuilding, not to criticize and obstruct. The nation is, or should be, shaped in the schoolroom. Wise men and women should preside there, not underpaid and discouraged automata who have no time or means to foster the growth of an idea or ideal. When we give the schools a chance, they will give us full value for our money. In the meantime let us remember that we are where we are, as individuals and as a nation, because of our schools.

TO WED SOON

Mrs. Gertrude Ozman, Former Tustin Resident, to Marry Tom Hughes

The marriage of Mrs. Gertrude Ozman, of No. 102 North Wilton place, Los Angeles, formerly of Tustin, and Tom Hughes, mill owner, oil magnate and politician, who laid the foundation for a $2,000,000 fortune by making the oil strike in the old Westlake field back in 1899, will probably take place at the Hotel Potter in Santa Barbara the day before Christmas.

Mrs. Ozman will arrive in San Francisco on Monday after a two months' visit with relatives in the East. She will then set the date for the wedding. After a brief stay at Santa Barbara Mr. and Mrs. Hughes will return to Los Angeles and make their home at the beautiful Hughes residence in the Palms.

The wedding is to be a quiet family affair. Mr. Hughes will motor to Santa Barbara, accompanied by Mrs. Ozman's two sisters, Mrs. O. H. Burke of Tustin and Mrs. Minnie Heffner of Los Angeles, and her mother, Mrs. Catherine Cullen, Los Angeles. Mrs. Heffner will be matron of honor at the wedding. Mr. Hughes is 59 years of age and the bride-to-be is less than 38. She is the widow of Roy Ozman, who died here about ten years ago, and is reputed to be worth at least $500,000 in her own right.

Mr. Hughes is one of the leading Republicans of Southern California. His wife died slightly more than a year ago. Mrs. Ozman has been married twice.

TRIBUTES PAID TO THREE MEN ON OR TO BE ON BENCH

Banquet In Appreciation of Z. B. West, W. H. Thomas and R. Y. Williams

"In honor of our three judges" is the way the Orange County Bar Association announced its banquet held last night at the Dragon, and it was an affair in every way a fitting expression of the respect and admiration that the attorneys of the county have for Superior Judge W. H. Thomas, who on Jan. 1st becomes a justice of the appellate court of the state, Superior Judge Z. B. West, who has served this county as attorney judge for sixteen years, and Attorney R. Y. Williams, who on Jan. 1st becomes superior judge, succeeding Judge Thomas.

The bar of the county, known as one without a peer for clean practice and fairness in its treatment of clients, participated in the tribute to the three men with a zest of earnestness and appreciation.

New President
R. Y. Williams has been the association's president the past year, and since that position must be held by a practicing attorney and not by a judge it became necessary that he resign the position. Attorney H. J. Forgy made the motion that Attorney H. C. Head be made president, and the naming of Head for president was quickly made unanimous. Attorney J. C. Burke was continued in the office of secretary, and in addition to that he was made treasurer, which position in the association has been held by Head.

The newly elected president was toastmaster in the ceremonies of appreciation that followed. Attorney H. J. Forgy, who began practicing law in

MOTHER! DON'T TAKE CHANCES IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Sick, Bilious, Clean Little Liver and Bowels

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, Mother! If coated, or your child is restless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation, poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

"TOGETHER"

Santa Ana at about the same time that R. Y. Williams began, was selected to answer to "Mr. Williams, soon to be Judge Williams."

"In my years of association with R. Y. Williams," said Forgy, "I have always had the utmost respect for him as a man of integrity and a man of real ability. As a judge there is not the slightest doubt but that he will render his decisions fearlessly and conscientiously."

Tributes were paid to Judge Thomas and to Attorney Williams by Judge West. He said that he had enjoyed the fellowship and associations that he had had with Judge Thomas, and it was with regret that those associations on the local bench ceased. He said that throughout the years that Williams had practiced before him, he always found that Williams came into court with his cases thoroughly studied out in advance, thoroughly familiar with the law and facts in the case.

Is for Fair Play
"There is one thing about the situation from which the attorneys can take comfort," said Williams, "and that is if I am wrong in a decision, Judge Thomas can right it on appeal." Williams declared that from his knowledge of the county bar he had no question but that the court would always be treated fairly, and he declared it his ambition to deal always fairly with attorneys and litigants.

The closing address was made by Judge Thomas, who said that it was with great pride that he thought of the many friendships that he had made in the nine years he has been here. The fine spirit of co-operation between attorneys and courts was declared by him to be without a peer in any county in the state. He said that the solid backing that he got in Orange county in his application for appointment pleased him beyond words. It is his intention to keep his home in Santa Ana.

At last night's meeting the bar association passed resolutions thanking the young women of Santa Ana and the faculty of the Fullerton Union high school for their work in assisting attorneys of the county in making out questionnaires.

Those present at last night's banquet were Judges Z. B. West and W. H. Thomas, Attorneys R. Y. Williams, H. C. Head, J. C. Burke, J. A. Harvey, L. F. Coburn, C. A. Kingston, Leonard A. Evans, H. G. HALSEY LAMME IS ONE OF SANTA ANA MEN IN GAY 'PAREE'

Witnessed Big Peace Demonstration Following Signing of the Armistice

Sergt-Major Halsey Lamme, who is with the miscellaneous detachment, Fortieth Division (Camp Kearny), in France, was among the Santa Ana men who witnessed the big peace demonstrations at Paris. He adds to the statement of other boys writing home to the effect that the Yanks are "it" over there, particularly with the women. Writing to his mother, Mrs. C. E. Lamme, 610 South Sycamore, he says:

"Dear Mother:

"Now that the war is over I will probably be able to write where I am, but I hope that it will only be a short time until we are on our way home.

"I sure had a great time in Paris, but I will have to wait until I see you to tell you all about the trip, for I could not commence to describe it. Paris simply went 'hog wild,' and it is Paris that represents France. I went to the Victory service at Notre Dame last Sunday morning and it was wonderful. The service lasted from 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. The music was very beautiful. The choir was very large and situated behind the altar which is in nearly the center of the church. The church was packed so that every one had to stand up and the galleries were a sight. A large portion of the main floor was reserved for officers and men of the allied armies. Just in front of us a space was reserved for all the allied diplomats. When the service was over there was an immense crowd filling the entire square in front of the church waiting to get in for the next service. I will certainly have to read Victor Hugo's 'The Hunchback of Notre Dame' when I get home now that I have seen the church.

"I also visited Eiffel Tower, which is now a French military wireless station, and Napoleon's tomb and the Military Museum.

Sunday there was a big celebration in honor of the victory, lasting all afternoon, evening. In fact, people were still parading the streets when we got up at 6 o'clock the next morning. A large parade including soldiers of all the allied armies, the Y. M. C. A., K. C. Red Cross, etc., was to march to the Place de La Concorde, where many cannons, aeroplanes, guns etc., captured from the Germans had been placed. President Poincare gave an address there, but I was unable to get within several blocks of the place at the appointed time on account of the mass of people blocking all the streets. I never saw anything like the crowds in my life. You were simply carried off your feet and away you went in

NEWSPAPER OWNER ASQUITH'S OPPONENT

HORATIO BOTTOMLEY

Horatio Bottomley, who is now contesting the seat of Asquith, former premier, in parliament, calls himself the chief advocate in England of a "business government."

Bottomley became rich through mining stocks and used his wealth to found several newspapers. He is best known as the owner of "John Bull," a national weekly which has gained tremendous circulation and a great hold on the people through slangy, slushy editorial comment.

He is at present a member of whatever direction the crowd was going. In the evening the crowds were just as bad and all traffic was practically at a standstill. An American soldier was badly in need of protection for the girls and women would grab your hat, tear the buttons off your overcoat and blouse, and, in fact, do anything to get a souvenir. I didn't see an American that wasn't bareheaded, but they didn't seem to molest the soldiers of other countries, except that they threw their arms around and kissed most every soldier they came in contact with. The people were simply wild with joy as you can imagine what Paris has been through, with the war at her very gates, nightly air raids, etc.

"I did not notice much difference in the dress of the Parisian women from well-dressed women in the cities of the states. They are very pretty and of course quite stylish, although the war has prohibited anything of an extreme nature.

"I hope you have escaped the 'Spanish Flu.' There were many deaths in the army and among the civilian population of France due to it. I don't wonder at the latter, as their living conditions are far from being sanitary. I am well and feeling fine."

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NEWS NOTES FROM ORANGE CITY

ORANGE, Dec. 21.—A Men's Club, an organization to further social intercourse and enlightenment on current topics, formed along lines of a plan conceived by Rev. H. V. Harris, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, was discussed at a banquet in Trinity parish house, where about twenty representative young men gathered on invitation of Rev. Harris.

The project was heartily endorsed by the meeting after it had been extensively discussed and explained. Plans were laid for another meeting, January 16, for the purpose of organizing. A committee on organization was named, consisting of K. V. Wolf of Olive, Dr. A. H. Tyrrell and D. C. Wetlin. Program committee for the next meeting consists of W. C. Lee, J. F. Rowley and E. H. Smith. A larger gathering is planned for next meeting, the attendance at which will be tripled.

The So and Sew Club members gave a jolly Christmas affair at the pretty bungalow of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Kogler. The rooms illuminated with red shaded lights, were artistically decorated with holly and Christmas greens.

In the afternoon the children of the club members were delighted with a Christmas tree from which toys and candy canes were distributed.

A delicious pie dinner was served at six o'clock, the husbands being invited to join the gathering. Places were marked for Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Clark and two children, Mrs. Clyde Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Burkett, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Stanley and son, Richard, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Craemer and baby son, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Parsons and Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Kogler and son, Nelson.

Lieutenant William Kroener has returned from Camp Johnston, Jacksonville, Fla., having been released from military service. He and Mrs. Kroener will make their home in Orange. At present they are residing with Mrs. Kroener's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. U. Hull.

Guy Ford has returned home from Spokane, Wash., where he has been attending a Government mechanical army school.

Captain F. L. Chapline, who is serving as special examiner for the heart board at Camp Lewis, expects to return to Orange in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bay and daughter, Lois, have gone to Riverbank, Cal., for a ten-day visit at the Tom Bay home.

NAME APRIL 5TH FOR HONORING FIGHTING MEN OF STATE

State Council Plans New State Organization Upon a Peace Basis

IMMEDIATE NEED FOR IT URGED BY MOORE

Representatives From Here Attend Gathering Held
In Los Angeles

The State Council of Defense has advised that the communities of California all join in a giant celebration on April 5 in honor of returning soldiers and sailors. That there will be a holiday and a general celebration of such huge proportions that other celebrations need not be necessary, was the idea advanced by C. C. Moore of San Francisco, director of the State Council of Defense, at a meeting of county councils of Southern California in Los Angeles yesterday.

The Los Angeles meeting was attended by Judge Z. B. West, chairman; J. C. Burke, secretary; S. H. Finley, John C. Brown, Mrs. A. J. Lawton, Rev. A. T. O'Rear, R. L. Bisby and T. E. Stephenson of the Orange County Council of Defense. Mrs. Lawton of Santa Ana and Mrs. Dunn of Garden Grove attended a women's conference in the morning.

April 6 comes on Sunday, and the fact that it is to be Sunday on the anniversary of America's entrance into the war is the reason April 5 is selected for the celebration.

Celebrate All at Once
"It is a big thing," said Moore, "We want every community or groups of communities to make that day big in the minds of our boys. Possibly by that time thirty-five or forty per cent of them will be home. We cannot wait until they all get home, of course, and it seemed to us that April 5 was about the best date we could select. Honor certificates will be given every person who entered the service and to the families of those who lost their lives in service."

The State Council of Defense is to go out of existence soon, and with it will go the county councils, which are divisions of the state council. The county councils are directed to take charge of the celebrations to be held on April 5, and make arrangements for them before they go out of existence.

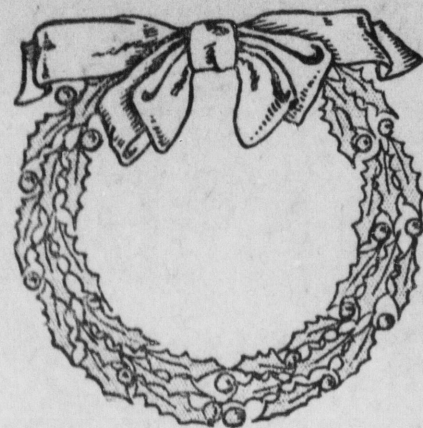

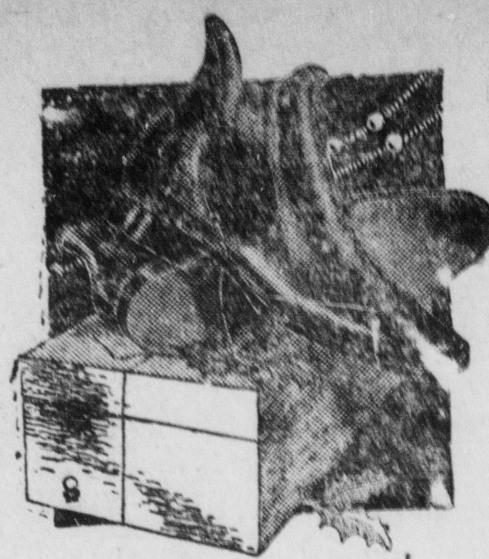

In place of the state council there seems to be a very plain intention of Moore and his associates on the state council to perpetuate the organization in some way that has peace and not war as a basis. Without much doubt they expect to ask the Legislature for an appropriation to keep the organization going under a new name. That such is the intention was hardly veiled in the remarks of yesterday, for the speakers all declared the work that such an organization can do will be of tremendous importance. The closing of the war stopped many activities of the state and county councils but it is declared that some of the activities have a wider field of usefulness in peace time than they had in war time.

Of Most Interest Here
Just what appeal such an organization will have in Orange county cannot at this time be stated, for some of the plans are not yet definite.

The Orange county delegation yesterday was particularly interested in the community council plan. Recently Judge West was asked by the state council to appoint a chairman for the community council organization. Colonel S. H. Finley was appointed as that chairman, but neither he nor Judge West was clear as to just what his duties were.

William Cowan, who has been secretary of the state council, outlined the plan. The community council is to be a peace organization to look after civic affairs, encourage development and take a lead in community thought and endeavor.

"I cannot see that Orange county is in need of much organization along that line," said Colonel Finley after the meeting, "for the chambers of commerce and farm bureaus are organized for just that work, and Orange county is already thoroughly organized. It seems to me that all I can do is to ask each chamber of commerce and farm bureau to name a committee to which communications can be sent and to carry on whatever statewide movements are desired."

Another matter in which Orange county councilmen were interested was that of the change of the non-war construction committee to a committee to have charge of the placing of returned soldiers and sailors in their old jobs or in new jobs. It was proposed that in each county two women be added to the committee. The Orange county non-war construction committee is John C. Brown, Santa Ana; N. U. Potter, Orange, and Richard Gregory, Fullerton.

Would Stop the Graft

Jesse Steinhart of San Francisco, who has been in charge of the war donations department of the state council, declared that it is important that every county maintain a committee that shall pass upon every kind of a benefit before aid for it or tickets for it can be sold to the public. He said that over $2,000,000 was saved for the people of the state through various schemes being headed off.

"Somebody starts off to gather money for the starving wives of the king of Patagonia," said he, "and merchants and everybody else with a soft heart is held up and made to contribute. We can head off that sort of thing by carrying on into peace times an organization that must pass upon every such project before the soliciting starts."

Here in Orange county the war donations committee was organized only a few weeks before the war closed, with District Attorney L. A. West as chairman.

The Americanization problem was pointed out as one of the things that ought to be worked upon regularly that there may be a better understanding among foreigners as to what

this country is and stands for.

Moore said that there would be a fifth Liberty loan for five or six billion dollars and possibly a sixth loan. The continuation of women's work and of home and school gardening were urged.

1919 GREATEST AUTO YEAR

PLANTS RESUME
100 PER CENT
PRODUCTION
JANUARY 1Airplane Designs Becoming More Popular; Changes
Mostly In MotorDETROIT, Mich., Dec. 21.— Detroit automobile manufacturers have completed
plans to make 1919 the biggest year in the history of the business.On January 1 automobile plants will be permitted to resume 100 per cent production.Success of preparations hinges on the supply of steel which at present is not coming in as plentifully as manufacturers hoped for, according to executives of the larger plants.Few new models will be shown at the March automobile show here and these will be only for display purposes.
New models will probably not be in the market in volume until next September. It requires about six months to get out a new line of cars
after the designs are made,
said the manufacturers.The principal changes in the higher priced cars will be in the motor. The airplane design is becoming more popular daily.4000 CARS DAILY
FORD PLANT GOALEven This Stupendous Production Can't Catch Up With Orders ImmediatelyDETROIT (Mich.) Dec. 21.— All automobile plants report satisfactory
strides are being made in realizing,
adjusting and repairing in preparation for the new era. Announcement that the government would undoubtedly accept Judge Gary's recommendations
for a schedule of new maximum steel prices effective January 1, gave further impetus to the feeling of optimism
that prevades the ranks of the manufacturers. While some of the plants will be able to return to a pre-war production basis much sooner than others
owing to the fact that there was a wide divergence in the nature of the war contracts assumed by the different plants, the transition is taking place on a smooth running basis with co-operation instead of competition as the motive power.It is understood the Ford company will be ready within a few weeks to resume production at even a greater rate than before the war. The new schedule, it is said, will call for a daily output of 4000 cars and even producing at this astonishing figure continuing for a long time before real increased orders can be made on the basis of unfilled orders. Many factories are planning for additions now that the construction ban has been lifted by the cessation of hostilities.W. S. S.
TRACTORS IN PLOWING EVENT
A tractor plowing demonstration was held on the Earl Smith farm, five miles east of Danville, Ill., recently.
Five machines plowed fifteen acres in two hours. Farmer experts who were present estimated that it would have required seven teams with as many men about nine hours to plow the same tract. The field of stubble, twenty rods in length, was divided into five spaces. The Helder, Fordson, Moline and Cleveland each were given a trifle less than three acres and the Case a trifle more than three, thus taking the fifteen-acre plot as nearly equal as possible. Congressman Joseph Cannon was an interested spectator.RICKEY TO LEAD
NATIONAL LEAGUERumor has it that Major Branch Rickey, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, will be the next head of the National League, succeeding John K. Tener, who resigned last summer after the squabble over the Perry case.
According to reports, Rickey is already assured of five votes or enough to elect him.TRUCK GREAT AID IN DEVELOPING 'BACK
COUNTRY' REGIONNew Recognition Given Motor Express By Gov't. In Weather Reports"A new government recognition of the value of motor trucks as freight carriers is indicated by the new ruling on the part of the Weather Bureau. Daily information of weather conditions prevailing over the routes
in any section will be furnished the automobile clubs upon request and will be published in the daily newspapers. Weather forecasts and warnings of heavy snows and cold waves
in the various regions will also be issued by the Weather Bureau."This is indeed a strong recognition of the commercial freight carrier over the highway, and as this service is to be a special daily service to all localities that apply for it, it should indicate to public officials particularly the feeling the National Government has toward this third arm of our transportation system."Watt L. Moreland, Los Angeles, general manager of the Moreland Motor Truck Company, in making the foregoing statement feels that still further recognition will be given by the government to highway transportation in the very near future, on account of the absolute need for some definite policy
of control and licensing of vehicles engaged in such important work as motor trucks are called upon to do.America's Duty Increases
Mr. Moreland further stated that it is the business of the United States to feed from now on a total of 375,- 000,000 people. Prior to the war it was our duty to supply foodstuffs to 100,000,000 people; during the war
we had under our care a total of 200,- 000,000, and now we are called upon to feed a total of 375,000,000, all of whom are Allies.This calls for enormous tonnages of food products, and the only way by which they can be produced is through the development of highway transportation so that back country can be placed in close touch with ready markets. It does no good to the rancher five miles from Santa Ana to tell him that Santa Ana is a rail road point; his product is just as far away from the market as though there were no railroad connections to a point five miles from there. What he must have, and what he will get, is rural motor express past his door to pick up the farm produce that he produces and place it in the hands of a selling agent or the ultimate consumer.Flexible Transportation Needed
For a good number of years this country has had an imperfect transportation system. The railways and waterways have done wonders in furthering development, but once the development is accomplished on both sides of a right-of-way it takes something of a still more flexible nature than railways to spread that development far enough into the back country to form really prosperous communities.This further development of any community through highway transportation will in turn prove of great value to the now established railways
in that it will increase their tonnage
on the part of their work that really shows a profit, and that is the long haul of heavy tonnages.
The day of the short-line railroad is gradually closing; it is too expensive and too slow a medium of transportation to withstand the demands of a new agent in moving goods from one point to another.HOWELL PASSES

Feet Under Farm Table
On MountainRay Howell is just as strong for good eats as he is for turning out a first-class electric job at the Orange County Ignition Works. And while his firm was making plans for expanding its quarters here this week he was on top of a mountain expanding his waist
measurement.Smith Mountain, in San Diego county, is the place where he was doing all this. Accompanied by his wife and her father, B. R. Douglass, of Orange, Howell left here Sunday morning for the mountain, the family going up to visit Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mendenhall, the women being cousins.The Mendenhalls have a big cattle ranch on the mountain and Howell spent three days in the saddle helping to round up stock. Horseback riding didn't distress him in the least and he was always able to take a seat at the table when meals were called."And, say, it was some joy to sit down to the table up there," says Howell. "Listen. We were in the millionaire class. Had all the good, rich cream we wanted, and fresh pork
—well, they were the kind of meals
that are available only on a big ranch, and, believe me, they were good.""And when evening came, there was the big fireplace to gather around,
with plenty of big chunks within arm's
length to keep the blaze burning brightly all the time. Popcorn and roasted peanuts helped to carry me over from supper to breakfast time.""The bracing mountain air and the horseback riding sure whetted my appetite and put new life in me, and here I am back on the grind of city business life, plodding away to pay for the stuff we city chaps have to throw into our stomachs in a rush to keep the wheels of business moving.""It's me for a ranch some of these fine days."Snow on the mountain added some
to the pleasure of the city bunch.

NEEDS MONEY TO SUPPLY
CHRISTMAS DINNERSCapt. Schute of the Salvation Army is making a plea for three hundred people to contribute $1 each to the Salvation Army Christmas fund. The captain is having many calls for assistance from poor people of the city for Christmas baskets. Many families of the poor have been in the grip of the influenza and their earnings have dwindled to the point where they cannot provide for themselves anything like a good Christmas dinner.Captain Schute has a big list of people who will need the baskets which the Salvation Army provides annually.
The contents of the baskets cost more than they ever did before and more money is needed.
Two Christmas kettles are located on Fourth street where people may drop their contributions. The cause is a worthy one and all who can should help the Army in its very commendable work.

ROOM FOR ITS CUSTOMERSAddition of Driveway Will Relieve Congestion In Service RoomThe Orange County Ignition Works
already has outgrown its quarters and this week started alterations that will give it additional room and serve to relieve congestion on the service floor.A doorway is being cut through the east side of the building almost directly opposite the door of the Spurgeon street entrance. This connects with an alley leading to Fifth street, making it possible for machines to drive on out east instead of backing
out on Spurgeon street or going out
the alley to the south of the building.Just south of the new entrance is to be erected a side room for the storing of equipment and for the gas engine and generator. The gas engine and generators are to be moved as a part of the plan for throwing all the battery work to the west side of the room and extending it forward to Fifth street to take up a part of what is now the front room and accessory room.The accessory department will be transferred to the east side of the room to the position now occupied by the engine and service on batteries.
This will bring the accessories out where they can be seen better by patrons of the establishment and will be more convenient for the floor salesmen.The general rearrangement of the establishment will prove a great convenience to employees as well as to customers. The firm has long been crowded for room and the addition being built for the engine and store room will relieve the situation.The firm's business at Fullerton also has expanded to the point where it is imperative that more room be made available and improvements in the plant there are among the possibilities of the immediate future.

FORDS ROLLING INTO CITY BY MIDDLE OF JANUARY

Joe Stout Is Some Happy Man At Bright Prospects For Cars

Oh Joy! The Fords are coming, the Fords are coming, with their little jingle, jingle.

Joe Stout of the Christoph & Stout Motor Co. is proudly exhibiting a letter from the Ford factory that Fords will commence to roll into Santa Ana by Jan. 15th.

It has been some months since the firm has received notice of this character and it brought joy to the management and people forming a waiting list also will be glad to hear that the time is not far distant when they may receive that new car they ordered some time ago and since have been anxiously waiting for.

HIGHWAYS SHOULD BE SUPERVISED BY U. S.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Highway transportation should be placed under the direction of a Federal Government Commission, according to Lieutenant Colonel Uhler, president of the American Association of State Highway Officials, at its annual convention here with representatives present from nearly every state in the Union. He said the growing volume and importance of interstate transportation of freight by motor trucks over public highways rendered Government supervision necessary. He said this class of traffic in the future should be given the same attention by Federal officials as rail and water transportation.

TRUCKS INCREASE TONNAGE

Two international trucks with trailers, equipped all around with Good-year cord tires, are being used by the Mickler Lumber company, Thonotassas, Fla. The trucks carry loads of logs averaging three tons a load over a four-mile route. A comparison of the work performed with these pneumatic-tired trucks with that performed by mule teams shows that 54,000 pounds of lumber now are being delivered daily against 15,000 pounds formerly delivered.

FRANK MORRIS BUMPS AUTO INTO WAGON AND HAS RIBS CRACKED

FULLERTON, Dec. 21.—N. Frank Morse of Placentia was traveling along at a fair pace with his automobile after dark when he suddenly came into contact with the rear end of a big lumber wagon that had a team of horses at the other end driven by a Frenchman. There was some force to the collision as Mr. Morse's machine was quite badly marred and he himself had three ribs cracked. His own personal ribs. There were several Frenchmen present where the accident occurred, near Placentia, and they were going to do all kinds of things to Mr. Morse, just as if the accident had not done enough already, but pulled in their horns lively when officers arrived and placed the driver of the wagon under arrest for operating a vehicle on the public highway without carrying a light. Mr. Morse is doing nicely, though still quite mad.

WIDEN STATE ROAD ENTERING RIVERSIDE

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 21.—Southern California motorists who have occasion to use the State highway reaching this city by way of Ontario will be interested in an order of the City Council for the widening of the cut along the north shoulder of Mt. Rubidoux at the entrance to Seventh street. A dangerous condition exists by reason of the narrowness of the cut and the curvature of the road. Ten feet will be added to the roadway at this point by the cutting down of the north bank for a distance of 200 feet, just west of the entrance to the Mt. Rubidoux drive.

In anticipation of the building of a substantial concrete bridge over the Santa Ana River a few hundred feet west of this cut, the City Council has decided to approach the Board of Supervisors with the proposition of altering the city limits so as to place the structure wholly within the county. At present the city line, which follows the Santa Ana River at this point, crosses the bridge, leaving about one-third of it in city territory. The Supervisors are thought willing to have the change made. A sinking fund has been established for the purpose of replacing the present temporary structure with a bridge which will withstand the freshets of the river.

GAME PRESERVE AT FRAZIER MOUNTAIN

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 21.—Forty thousand acres in the Frazier Mountain locality are to be set aside as a wild game preserve. So announces Forest Supervisor J. R. Hall of the Santa Barbara forest. The vast acreage lies in the corner of Los Angeles, Kern and Ventura counties, and is intersected by the Ridge Route. Deer and other wild game abound there, and the frequency of motor travel over the highway between Los Angeles and Bakersfield makes this game a constant source of temptation to the traveler.

MILLER GREY TUBE XMAS GIFT OFFERED

The Modern Vulcanizing Works, 415 West Fourth street, is going to play Santa Claus this year, and today is announcing that on next Monday and Tuesday, December 23 and 24, it will give a Miller Grey tube as a Christmas present to every person who on either of those days buys a Miller casing.

(YELLOW PERIL IN FOOTBALL)

To the opponents of the eleven of Lehigh University and of the University of Pennsylvania, the yellow peril is a real one.

For each of these eleven boasts a hard tackling son of the Orient as an end.

Lai Wey, son of a wealthy Chinese mandarin, forgetful of the soft living traditions of his class and infected by the democratic spirit of the New China, has won his place as end on the varsity eleven of Lehigh.

Shiro Akahoski, a Japanese tilting the scales at 137, through great speed and hard tackling has made good, as end on the Pennsylvania varsity, where he is ranked as one of the best that ever donned the moleskins.

PEDESTRIANS RULES, 1919, BY J. SKIDMORE

Rules for Pedestrians, 1919, as formulated by Joe Skidmore of Laguna Beach, are given in Laguna Life as follows:

All pedestrians must approach all intersections of streets at a speed not exceeding fifty miles per hour.

All pedestrians must exercise due care and extreme vigilance avoiding collision with and injury of automobiles.

All pedestrians will be held responsible for any damage caused to automobiles in case of collision. All pedestrians, while on any public highway, are hereby enjoined from carrying in their pockets, or concealed about their persons, any sharp substances, nails, etc., such as might cause injury to the tires of any automobile.

All pedestrians, after the hour of 6 p. m., must display a red light behind and one white spot light in front, also carry a klaxon at all times of sufficient size to be heard within a radius of seven and one-half miles.

No pedestrian is allowed to dodge behind a tree or any other solid substance for protection, unless the automobile shall chase said pedestrian upon the sidewalk, or in any other way act in an unsportsmanlike manner. From 60 minutes past 12 o'clock p. m., April 1st, of each year, to 1 o'clock p. m. of the same day of each year, shall be the closed season on pedestrians.

HARTFORD MAY HAVE SHOW

Hartford, Conn., dealers by reason of the announcement of the war board that manufacturers may return to a seventy-five per cent production basis and that shows are permissible, are feeling decidedly better. It has been noted that since the war board's announcement more interest has been shown in cars than for some time. Yet during that time considered dull, the Colonial Automobile company, Studebaker distributor, in October had the biggest month in its history. Russell P. Taber, Inc., broke all records for the sale of trucks. A meeting of the Hartford Automobile Dealers' Association is to be held, and a canvass among the dealers reveals that most of them are in favor of the show.

DEMPSEY MAY BOX OLE MIKE GIBBONS

BY H. C. HAMILTON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—A match between Jack Dempsey, heavyweight and Mike Gibbons, middleweight, is not beyond the realm of possibility. Certain inducements, it was learned today, have been offered both men. Each, while not yet acquiescing, has agreed to give the matter serious consideration and there are reasons to believe the fight will be staged. It would be for eight rounds in New Jersey.

A world famous promoter is behind the scenes pulling the wires.

A bout between these two masters of the ring would be a scrap from the standpoint of the fans. It would be fair.

Gibbons has been out of action since the war started. The nearest he has come to real battle was before the death of Lee Darcy when strenuous efforts were made by Eddie Kane, his manager, to pit him against the Australian champion, but without avail. He was in perfect condition then and his manner of living suggests he probably is in the best of trim now. He weighed then somewhere near 165 pounds. Recently he has been a hand-to-hand fight instructor for the army and has had wonderful success, so much in fact that he probably will be given an army commission. He weighs now about 170 pounds.

Dempsey weighs much more than this and has been fighting.

HINTS TO SAVE ON MOTOR TRUCK WEAR

E. Richard Just of Los Angeles has prepared some pointers which truck owners and drivers will find good food for thought. Undoubtedly, these ideas, if followed out, will add to the life of the truck:

Don't try racing with a commercial car; your truck was built for strength, not speed. Wash your truck frequently; a dirty-faced delivery car spoils a lot of your employer's printed advertising. Don't neglect a squeak; noise is a protest against disuse of squirt can and grease gun.

Street-car tracks are nice for springs, but hard on tires—steel costs less than rubber.

Don't keep extra spark plugs and other delicate parts in with wrenches and jacks; the hash they make isn't good truck diet.

Don't take it in one load if it should be hauled in two; a single straw overload broke the well-known camel's back.

Use your brakes when getting "spotted;" platforms were built for loading, not for bumping posts.

Don't drive too close to the curb; edge-trimming is a fine institution for pie crusts, but too expensive for truck tires.

The steering wheel is vastly important, but it is well also to give the grease cups an occasional turn.

Don't slide the rear wheels when stopping; rubber pavement polishers are too much of a luxury even for your boss.

Make haste slowly—especially when going around corners on a slippery pavement.

COMPLETE CRATER LAKE ROAD

The new circular road around the rim of Crater Lake, Ore., has been completed. The grade circling this natural body of water is at a height of 7000 feet. It is 38 miles long and completes 75 miles of road work now in Crater Lake National Park.

WOLFF & HALSTED

In case a camshaft becomes sprung or twisted it will alter the valve timing to such an extent that the whole operation of the engine will be thrown out of gear. The cure for this is straightening in a special machine, so that the owner will have to rely on the service station to do the job.

What Does Testing Mean?

"Testing" means finding specific gravity of battery solution by measuring it with the hydrometer.

The test is simple, but of utmost importance because it is the only means of telling whether your battery is being kept in condition by proper charging or weakened by starvation.

Testing is an important part of the service that you as a user of a Willard Storage Battery are entitled to receive. We will make the test for you or show you how you can keep tab on your battery by testing it yourself every week or two.

When you come for your next test ask for the booklet, "A Mark with a Meaning for You."

WALTER BECOMES SOLE OWNER OF AGENCY FOR SANDUSKY

Purchases Interest of O. J. Eckley In Business at Anaheim

ANAHEIM, Dec. 21.—A deal whereby Joe Walter becomes the sole proprietor of the Sandusky Sales and Service Station, absorbing the interest formerly owned by O. J. Eckley, has been consummated.

In making the deal Mr. Walter takes over the Orange county agency for the Sandusky tractors and farm tools on hand as well as the lease on the building and the complete repair department which has just been installed in the new home in the Hartman building.

In speaking of the deal, Mr. Walter stated that the opportunity presented itself and knowing no better place to put his money, he decided to take over the entire business in which he was a partner. Mr. Eckley will take another territory with the Sandusky people.

The Sandusky agency has grown by leaps and bounds since it was opened here by Mr. Eckley about a year ago. About six months ago Mr. Walter accepted a position with Mr. Eckley as salesman, a few months later he purchased a half interest in the business. Since then the business has grown even faster than before, and just recently the Hartman building at Olive and Center was leased and the largest end best tractor and farm implement house in the county was opened.

Mr. Walter expects great activity in the tractor business and states that the same service and square dealings as given in the past will be maintained in the future.

AXES TO BE PRESENT AT LEAGUE MEETING

BY H. C. HAMILTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—More than one axe will be present at the joint meeting of big league magnates, probably to be held in New York Jan. 15, according to present indications.

And they will not be present just for grinding.

The minor leagues are going to be in on what fence building takes place. Sentiment is so strong for a one-man national commission that it is generally recognized the sentiment will be close, even with Ban Johnson's influence thrown to the side of the old-headed supreme court. It is the National Leaguers and that section of the National League that want a change that will have a great deal to say regarding the commissioner.

As matters now stand the minors are allowed a voice in the commission when a minor league is involved.

The president of the interested league has a vote in such a case. Johnson's gradually crumbling hold on the magnates of his own league and the undisputed antagonism of the National Leaguers make it practically certain some change will be effected.

TO NEW YORK BY AUTOMOBILE AT EXPENSE LESS THAN $100

Willard Smith and Mother Have Fine Trip to Athens, N. Y.

From Santa Ana to New York in a Ford car in twenty-seven days and at an expense of less than $100 for two passengers, is the record made by Willard C. Smith and his mother. They returned home by train, arriving here Wednesday.

The travelers are the wife and son of W. P. Smith of the Lion Tea and Coffee House. Mrs. Smith and her son left here on Sept. 2, going over the Santa Fe trail. They were equipped for camping, with the front seat cut so that it could be laid back to form a bed. They encountered all kinds of roads and weather, and were "hung up" two Sundays because of the gasless Sunday period in the east.

They went through the petrified forest in Arizona and visited many places of interest. They had no hard luck and the "little old Ford" traveled right along. Their objective was Athens, New York, where they visited several weeks with sisters and other relatives of Mrs. Smith.

With the winter season on, they decided not to attempt to make the return by auto and disposed of the car, returning by train.

DON'T DELAY ON MACHINERY REPAIRS

The United States Food Administration has issued a request to the farmers throughout the country to order their next year's repairs at once. They are making this request in order to reduce the labor shortage in the factories to a minimum and to save transportation space.

"Before the different machines are stored away for the season they should be completely overhauled and the necessary repairs ordered at once," a bulletin says. "Besides making the necessary repairs, the wooden parts should be given a coat of paint in order to keep the wood from rotting. All metal parts subject to rust, such as plows, shears, disks and cultivator shovels, should be given a coating of some heavy oil or grease."

"Wherever possible, the machinery should be stored under some cover. It has been found that machinery stored in sheds lasts twice as long as machines stored outside, subject to all kinds of weather conditions. A machine shed need not be an expensive structure, but it should keep out rain, snow and sunshine. Many farmers not provided with machine sheds usually have small vacant spaces, where the machines can be stored if taken apart. This will require a great deal of time, but a farmer can well afford to spend a great deal of time in caring for his equipment during the present high prices of farm machinery."

OHIO HAS WAR-ECLIPSED GRIDIRON STAR FOR 1919

'Pete Stinchcomb

A war-eclipsed star is scheduled to shine in western conference football next year.

"Pete" Stinchcomb of Cleveland is the youth upon whose brow moleskin dopesters would place such an honor crown.

Stinchcomb, like many other brilliant football prospects, has been delayed in his gridiron career while helping Uncle Sam put the brakes on Bill Hohenzollern.

Stinchcomb goes back to Ohio State at Columbus. Coach Jack Wilce is waiting patiently to build a machine around this speedy, line-plunging and brilliant back-field man. Another "Big Ten" title looms for the Buckeye school with Stinchcomb and a smooth working team in action.

As backfield man for the Cleveland Naval Reserve team—in which branch of the service Stinchcomb has been serving—"Pete" has romped around opposing ends—plunged through their lines and carried his team to the fore ranks of military and naval football ratings.

In The Sportsman's Realm

Furnished by the Fish & Game Commission

Duck-hunters, desirous of laying up some "Holiday Birds" in time to let them ripen for the Christmas feast, are advised by the Fish & Game Commission to get busy this week-end, as the present flight is the best of the season, despite the full moon, and the fowl are in the finest condition of any since the opening. Evidently they brought their fat with them from better feeding-grounds than hereabouts. The fattest ducks cannot long hold their delicacy on the starvation rations of the sea marshes.

The uncertainty of duck-shooting, wherein lies perhaps its greatest charm, is well illustrated by Bear Valley this season, where the lakes, after freezing around the edge two weeks ago, have opened up, and are well stocked again with big ducks. So writes Lloyd Percival, who is one of several who are "staying in" the Valley this winter, and pictures in glowing terms the wonderful weather that has favored the last few days.

"The duck-shooting is fine, as we are having some of the finest weather I have ever experienced in the time I have spent in the Valley," writes Percival. "Both lakes are clear at this writing and the weather is just like Spring; there is still some snow left on the southside, but it has been off the other side for a week, road and other conditions are splendid. Ducks have been rather tame owing to there being so little shooting being done, and days at a time we go up there and are the only ones out; have had the time of my young life and we are at it most of the time at that."

Good shooting is reported from the San Diego lakes right along. Cuyamaca as well as Moreno, is giving good shots their limits of fine, fat birds of the biggest and best kinds—"cans," redheads and bluebills. The trip is well worth anyone's while in such settled and pleasant weather as the last few days, especially as good sport with quail, and assurance of all the birds and rabbits needed for camp use are incidental to the jaunt.

Sunday, despite the big moon and a clear night previous, some good shooting was enjoyed along the coastal lagoons and on the clubs which shoot on that day. Several shot limits of widgeon, spoonies, sprig and teal on the San Joaquin grounds, and down on Newport Bay quite a few nice bags were made.

Geese are steadily decreasing on the Irvine Ranch whose hills after the green grass started, formerly were wonderfully popular with these big-game of the wildfowler. Every winter, fewer come South, this year there are only a few small bands. The feed is about as good as ever, but few geese come to sample it.

It remained for the Rancho San Joaquin to demonstrate that the common field mushroom figures as an attraction to geese. Two years ago there was a very heavy yield on the pastures South of the duck-club, and the geese congregated always where the mushrooms were thickest. The mudhens ate them also. Mushrooms that had been pecked by the heavy nailed bills of the geese were found occasionally, but they seemed to prefer the "buttons" as these would be found turned over occasionally, or the holes where they had been grubbed out by the grazing birds.

Thus far, the present year has been a poor mushroom year and that may have some remote connection with the scarcity of geese; but geese have been fairly abundant in many years when rains came late and mushrooms were hard to find.

The fine weather sped up enthusiasm of quail-hunters considerably, and sent many a party afield. Such reports as have come to hand indicate that the birds are giving much better sport than two weeks ago, quite a few limits now being reported.

SPEEDWAY FOR AUTO TESTING IS PLANNED

Joseph Tremblay, director of public safety for Montreal, declares he intends to provide a speedway where owners and mechanics can test or try out cars as much as they like. He states that the public streets are being used for this purpose to a considerable extent and that the practice has become dangerous. He has chosen LaFontaine park tentatively and is arranging to fix certain hours during which fast driving will be tolerated. Speeding in the park will not be allowed on Sunday, however. He has advised the board of examiners for chauffeurs to avail themselves of the privilege for speed tests required of prospective chauffeurs under the provincial regulations.

TELLS HOW TO GET CAR OUT OF MUDHOLE

Turn Wheels Slowly, Is Advice, and Keep Out of the Mud If It Is Possible

To get stuck in the mud is an experience that every motorist in anxious to avoid. There is probably nothing so exasperating in a driver's career as to come to the realization in the dead of night, on some lonely country highway, that he is in a mud-hole with little hope of extrication without the aid of a team of mules. At such a time any practical suggestion which will enable the driver to get out of his difficulty is regarded as a godsend.

The United States Tire Company has this to say about getting a car out of a mudhole:

There will always be mudholes. The motorist has the power nowadays to go practically where he pleases and he frequents the highways and the byways, with a leaning towards the byways, if he be anxious to get away from the beaten path. In doing this there are times when he will get stalled. Putting the car into low gear and then feeding it gasoline as though it did not cost over a cent a gallon will not get the car out, if it be stalled badly. The wheels revolve so rapidly that they do not get traction enough—they do not have an opportunity to catch hold. The only apparent result is getting the tires so warm one can scarcely touch them, and, in addition, wearing them badly.

Try this method: Put the car in low, and if you cannot feed the gas with your foot evenly, so that the wheels will revolve slowly, put your emergency brake on. Do not put it so that the wheels will not revolve at

RESUME WORK ON HIGHWAYS IN SOUTHLAND

Coachella Valley Stretch Soon to Be Paved; State Commission Again Busy

Although Southern California is far ahead of other portions of the state in the matter of excellent highways, yet the State Highway Commission is planning to take up in the Southland more important highway projects, according to recent announcement by Newell D. Darlington, member of the State Highway Commission.

"Now that peace is with us, we are permitted to carry on this work unhampered by lack of material and labor, and in view of this fact it is possible the commission later may take up some very important projects," Mr. Darlington explained.

One of the immediate results of the ending of the world war will be the connecting up of important highways.

Additional highway bonds have already been sold and camps have already been authorized now that road-building can once more be secured.

Chief of the new projects will be the connecting up of Imperial valley and Los Angeles on the trunk line that will traverse the Coachella valley.

Two big road camps are being established in Imperial county and Riverside county for the resumption of winter work along this line. It means something over 15 miles of concrete construction. This work can be done only in the winter because of excessive heat in summer in that region.

The commission is also calling for bids on the Mint canyon line just north of Saugus, crossing the Santa Clara river. This is the highway leading to Antelope valley and work will begin there immediately.

Paving is just being finished between Gavilota and Santa Barbara. This work has been progressing slowly for some months with great difficulty under war conditions. Labor and material have been short, but it is now thought possible to complete this work by the first of the year. Mr. Darlington said. Two bridges on this line will be completed during the winter.

Work has also been authorized on the Riverside county highway to go three miles southerly from a point two miles west of Thermal. This is to be 15 feet, class A concrete and work will begin as soon as the contract can be let.

FIRESTONE'S VICTORY IN PATENT RIGHT SUIT

The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company won a sweeping victory at Cincinnati last Saturday, when the United States Court of Appeals reversed the decision of the District court in the Goodyear tire machine patent, with instructions to dismiss the bill, and declared the Sieberling and Stevens patent and the state patents invalid. Suit was brought against the Firestone company in April, 1914, on alleged basic patents for manufacture of pneumatic tires by machine. The rate of royalties established would have amounted to millions of dollars per year from the tire manufacturers and the automobile owners, and the victory is more far-reaching in savings to the automobile industry than the victory in the Perlman rim case, which was also an alleged basic patent demanding tribute from every automobile using demountable rims.

Livesey's is distributor for the Firestone tire tires in the county and pneumatic tires in the city.

TONNAGE WASTE ON TRUCKS IS TREMENDOUS

Return Trips Without Load Is Cause of the Greatest Loss

There are over 300,000 motor trucks operating in the United States today and 70 per cent run empty one way.

This enormous waste of highway transportation facilities is one of the reasons why foodstuffs are so high and steps are being taken through a Highways Transport Committee in each state in the Union to greatly lessen this waste through the establishment of Return Loads Bureau and Rural Motor Express Routes.

Under present conditions the tonnage capacity waste per year is over 233, 500, 000 tons.

Study of transportation in this country by the Government during the war period points out several stumbling blocks to a proper use of this wonderful third arm of our facilities, the motor truck.

Secretary of the Department of Commerce William C. Redfield states in an article in "The Nation's Business":

"The transportation systems of the United States is not a unity. It cannot be run on what we may call unitarian lines. It is a trinity, and has to be run on trinitarian. You must link up railways and waterways and highways to get a perfect transportation system for this country.

"If there were no railroads we would have little transportation. If there were no waterways there would be insufficient transportation. If we had an abundance of railroads and waterways and lacked the use of highways, we would have imperfect transportation. We should fail to bring it to every man's door to be perfect.

"The early transportation in the Hudson River valley was by sloop and it took from five to nine days to go from New York to Albany. The river was just as navigable then as it is now; the difference lies in the tool that was used.

"Now in that use of the fit tool for the route lies the whole truth in transportation. The best tool must be had for the job and the opportunity must be provided for the tool to do its work.

Combustion Engine Works Change

"There came into the world a new tool the internal combustion engine, destined to work almost as great a change in the human life as the steam engine in its time, making possible a tool for the waterway that the waterway had never had before, making it possible to use for the highway what the highway had never had before, making necessary the alteration of the highway to suit the new tool built for it. It has never been true until now and it has just become true, that the waterway and highway have been, as regards the tools for their use, on a technical and scientific level with the railway.

The Government is just putting in operation the first great barges for the Mississippi River, intended to carry ore South and coal North, made possible because of internal combustion engines. The tool has come, the internal combustion engine is altering the face of the marine world. So that we do not really need over six feet of water in the Northern Mississippi to carry 1,800 tons of ore in one boat.

"Now these three ways of transporting, developed to their full, are not hostile to each other. In the days of our ignorance we thought they were. In other times the railroads bought canals to suppress them.

"But we have learned a larger outlook now and the congestion so recently as a year ago taught us that there are certain kinds of goods, certain types of transportation, that the railroads of this country cannot afford to do. Certain great items of bulk freight they must always carry. We should starve for steel if we had to depend upon our railroads to bring the ores from Minnesota to Pittsburgh. We are learning that there is a differentiation in transportation.

Enemies of Past, Friends Today

"So these two enemies of the past are likely to operate as friends today. It is not a chance thing that the internal waterways of the country are at this time being operated by the railroad administration. It means an advance in thought.

"I told the Director General of Railways that two-thirds of the job was fairly well in hand but that he had left out one-third and that I thought he would not get his unity complete until he made it a trinity by taking in the highways. I speak as a friend of the railroads, and as a friend of the waterway, which I think is also coming into its own, I am convinced that neither will reach its normal place as a servant of the people unless linked up with motor truck routes.

"The public authorities have got to be sufficiently educated to make a good thing possible. They have got to learn, as many a farmer has to learn, that the most costly thing in the world is a bad road."

—W. S. S.—

MANY TRUCKS IN USE ON FARMS OF AMERICA

187 Were Counted In One Day Waiting at Entrance of South Omaha Stockyards

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 7.—Farmer-owned motor trucks to the number of 187 were counted on a single day waiting at the entrance of the South Omaha stockyards for a chance at the unloading chute. This merely is indicative of the extent to which motor transport is supplanting the horse for farm hauling in eastern Nebraska and western Iowa. Whatever farmers in other sections of the country may be doing, or may not be doing, the farmers in the country in the vicinity of Omaha are buying motor trucks.

This is due largely to the efforts which have been put forth during the last few months by the Omaha motor car distributors. Nearly every motor car concern on motor row has gone into the truck business seriously and intends to stay in it. That the possibilities of the motor truck trade among western farmers are almost limitless is the opinion of the Omaha distributors.

As an instance of what can be done, one distributor tells of one county in western Nebraska in which he has disposed of forty-seven motor trucks to farmers and of one agency in western Iowa which has made a record of twenty-five motor trucks sold to farmers within the last few months.

What Trucks Are Doing

Perhaps the best place to see what the motor truck is doing for the farmer in this section of the country is at the South Omaha stockyards. The records of the yards show that between Jan. 1, 1918, and Nov. 7, 1918, motor trucks owned by farmers hauled to and delivered at the yards over 161,000 head of hogs alone. This takes no account of the smaller loads of sheep, cattle and the like. Motor trucks come to South Omaha from both sides of the Missouri river from an average distance of from 40 to 50 miles, while instances have occurred of stock being hauled from a distance of nearly 75 miles.

There is money in it, too, for the farmer. As a typical instance: A motor truck distributor in Omaha sent his man to see a likely farmer prospect near Ashland, Neb., 42 miles from Omaha. The farmer hesitated. He protested he had nothing to haul which would warrant him in buying a motor truck. The salesman asked him about his hogs. The farmer admitted that he would have a truck load of hogs ready to turn in about two weeks from that time. The salesman secured a promise that when the hogs were ready to sell, the farmer would call him on the telephone and permit him to come out after them and haul them to market.

In due time the message came. The salesman drove out to the farm, loaded the hogs and told the farmer that if he failed to deliver them at the South Omaha yards, 42 miles away, inside of 2 hours, he would forfeit $100 on the price of the truck. The farmer thought he had a cinch on that $100. The truck man made the trip, however, in less than the 2 hours. Later, when the farmer came to figure the deal over, he found that the saving in shrinkage due to motor transport and the short time taken, as compared with what it would have been either by wagon transport or railroad carriage, at the current price received for hogs at the yard, amounted to $28 on that one load. Convinced, he at once drew his check for the truck and joined the ranks of motorized farmers.

In the larger country towns in the vicinity of Omaha there are coming into being companies which make a business of gathering up livestock and other farm produce in their localities and trucking it to the Omaha and South Omaha markets. Farmers telephone in to the company that they have hogs or something else to market and a truck is sent out to pick it up. This service is distinct from the motor express routes and has no connection with the return loads bureau which is operating in Omaha. Each local company is operated independently and on emergency schedules.

UNHEARD OF DOIN'S BY YANK MECHANICS

Return Trips Without Load Is Cause of the Greatest Loss

An interesting letter from Capt. Owen R. Bird, formerly advertising manager for the Oldsmobile Company of California, tells of the mighty doings of the motor truck and mechanics on the west front. The letter was written October 30, when the big Argonne Forest battle was well under way. After a description of the awful desolation of the reconquered territory, Capt. Bird continues:

"But it's not at all dark—we have lots of fun and the spirit of the Yanks is a remarkable thing. My mechanics do the most un-heard-of things. Last week we ran out of clutch collars and made fifty out of old horseshoes in a deserted French forge. They are now delivering the goods on a string of 124 trucks, as the first worked so well that we later fitted up a whole train. I lost three touring cars by shellfire ten days ago, but out of a salvage dump left by the Huns we built three more, rigged up an electric plant and then, last but not least, made a complete Ford light delivery wagon. Most of the work was done in the rain and with shells cracking all around.

Capt. Bird chose to work at the front taking care of the motor transportation for a whole division rather than remain at the rear, where there was better chance for advancement.

TRACTOR HITS PIKE FOR 480 MILE RUN

It is only a few years since the spectators at tractor demonstrations used to cheer when any of the contestants managed to plow a furrow and get back to its starting place with out a mechanical breakdown. But much water has flowed under London bridge since then.

Not long ago Lt. G. A. Hammon of the Ordnance Department of the army walked into the Holt plant at Peoria, Ill., selected an eighty-five horsepower "Caterpillar" artillery tractor which had just been built and with four enlisted men as a crew, set off on a highway cruise, probably unique in tractor history. The normal speed of this tractor is supposed to be three miles per hour, but this particular specimen did better than eighty miles per day for six days, arriving in Detroit, 480 miles from its starting place, in that length of time, during which it had traversed all sorts of roads, heavy with fall rains. During all this time the motor was allowed to run continuously and after 151 hours of operation had been concluded, an examination was made of the entire vehicle, which was found to be in such excellent condition that it was at once ordered to proceed overland to the army proving ground at Aberdeen, Maryland, Lt. L. S. Sheedwick taking charge of the tractor in Detroit.

SMASH-UP ARTISTS LANDED IN JAIL

The pair of "smash-up" artists that have been operating in Southern California for the last month, are now playing peek-a-bo with each other through the cell bars of the Los Angeles city bastille. Their names are Clyde Skansen and Harry A. Mudgett and both possess police records as long as your arms.

Detectives Powell and Clark of the Automobile Club of Southern California's Theft Bureau arrested the pair after an exciting chase during which the car driven by the bandits, the property of Mrs. M. L. Junkin, of 1246 Fifth avenue, crashed into a street car and was badly wrecked.

In apprehending Skansen and Mudgett, Powell thinks that he has cornered two of the king-pins of automobile thievery in Southern California. Their most recent method of operation was to drive an expensive car into the country and deliberately wreck it, making off with all movable parts and accessories.

Since their incarceration the pair have confessed to several of the wrecking incidents in addition to the theft of the Junkin machine. The confession involves cars belonging to the People's Market and the Goodyear Tire Company, these machines having been wrecked at San Juan Capistrano and Santa Ana, respectively.

CORD TIRES ARE BEST FOR THE HARD GRIND

When and in what sort of service it is advisable to use Cord tires in place of fabric tires is a question which many motorists have asked themselves time and time again in trying to arrive at the sound conclusion of getting the most miles out of a tire for every dollar invested.

"There are times and cases when it pays and pays big to use Cords and then there are also occasions where a fabric tire will give almost as much if not equally as many miles of service as a cord," says J. E. Pearce, of the Supply company.

"If a man uses his car day in and day out running up a consistently high monthly mileage or in cases where there is a tendency to overload, then Cord tires are advisable for they will stand the gaff of heavy duty work better than a fabric."

GARAGE AND FEED STORE

Garage Phone 1032. SAN JACINTO, CAL. Feed Store 1030.

We offer below, three ranches for sale, each in their price class we believe to be absolute bargains, soil, water and climatic conditions are unsurpassed.

20 acres, only one mile out of town, four flowing wells with reservoir, four room house, good large barn fitted for 30 cows, this place is slightly run down, but with a little brain matter and more elbow grease can be made in a short time into a $10,000 place, it can be bought on very easy terms at the very ridiculous price of $5000.

15 acres—This place is right up in the pink, ready to step into and have an ideal home and a good living. Less than a mile from town on a paved road. A good eight-room house, with bath, cooler, closets, etc., good, large barn and outbuildings nicely equipped for 300 hens. Pumping plant, plenty of the cheapest water in the valley. Now listen, the price of this is only $9000, and if you have a good little home up to $2500 and $1000 in cash you can trade for it with very attractive terms on the balance.

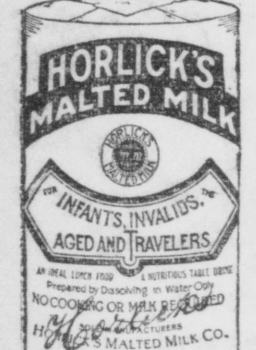

157½ acres, close in between here and Hemet, this ranch is one of the best money makers in the valley, for dairy and general farming, now running as a dairy with 30 cows. 60 acres of fine alfalfa, 10 acres of 3 year old apricots, 20 acres pasture, balance has been used as grain land, all under irrigation. Good pumping plant with cheap water, cement pipe lines barn for ten head of horses, house and outbuildings. Equipped with all necessary tools and blacksmith shop, also 6 head of horses. Cows can be bought, but not included in price of ranch, which is only $40,000. $15,000 cash will handle it, and good terms on the balance, if you know the ranching game this proposition will interest you.

If any of these interest you in any way, take it up with us and we will do the rest. Our telephone is 941.

L. A. Produce Market

Fancy Bellflower apples were scarce in the local market yesterday and the price on the benches from stores has advanced about 15 cents per box. The potato market is weaker with prices declining considerably both in carlots and in sacks from the store. Fancy packed oranges have advanced somewhat in price but the heavy supplies of ordinary stock are moving at steady figures. Onions from Stockton are showing a wide range in quality and considerable rain-damaged stock is selling at heavy discount.

or Christmas Services

(Mrs. J. M. Gillegly, Correspondent)
VILLA PARK, Dec. 21.—The Modern Priscillas of Villa Park met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Elizabeth Lee. There was a fair attendance in spite of the fact that illness kept several at home. The afternoon was spent very pleasantly and a delightful lunch of waters and tea
was served to the club, and the guests.
Guests were Miss Essick, Miss Hendrix and Mrs. Guthrie of Orange, and Mrs. Nichols, wife of the manager of the Orange association, who became a member of the club.

The members present were Mrs. J.
B. Handy and son Bruce, Mrs. Walter
Rasch, Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. Waite,
Mrs. J. Roy Smith of Capistrano,
Mrs. C. A. Palmer and Elizabeth Lee.
The next meeting will be held on the 8th of January at the home of Margaret Holditch. It will be election of officers and every one is urged to be

Influenza Hits Community
The influenza has taken Villa Park by storm. Local people had begun to feel almost immune and now it has arrived without warning. The Padias and Nyssen families are recovering,
David Rouse is very ill and Robert
Martin, who is employed by the Guy
Tract Well Company, is down. Louis DeLong has the flu also. The Ed Adams family is in quite a serious condition. Frank Adams has pneumonia and is in a critical condition. A nurse has been secured to take care of him, as his mother is completely exhausted from caring for him. Mr.
Adams, the father, has every symptom of the influenza and has kept close to his bed. At present there are no other members of the family down.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh T. Thomson motored to Long Beach to attend the funeral of the manager of the Bixby company.

Chester Beatch is sick with influenza.

Villa Park Wins, 25 to 5
The Villa Park school baseball team played Thursday afternoon and won the game without an effort. The score was 25 to 5. This is their second game with Olive and the team has won both games.

Owen Handy of San Pedro is spending this week at Villa Park, looking after his interests here. He is staying at the J. B. Handy home.
Mrs. L. F. Thurston is seriously ill with influenza.

School and Church Closed
The Villa Park school has been ordered closed by the health officer, Dr.
Domann, as the influenza is so prevalent here at present. Almost half of the school is out on account of it.
There will be no church or Sunday school next Sunday and no Christmas exercises at all.

Marjorie Caldwell has influenza.
She is not believed seriously ill, and it is expected she will recover rapidly.

Frank Adams "Flu" Victim
Frank Adams of Villa Park died last night of pneumonia, caused from influenza. He was taken ill Monday at the home of his parents.

ATTRACTIVE FUTURE IN SOUTH AMERICA

Having sailed the "seven seas" almost continuously since 1914, without sign or sight of Hun raider or submarine, E. G. Willems, Dodge Brothers' traveling representative, has just reached Detroit from South America.
He predicts a vast enlargement of American world business after the war, but in the face of keen and highly organized competition from several quarters.

He says that American business has made considerable progress in South America during the period of the war,
and that the establishment of branch
banks has done a great deal to promote North American interests in the nations to the south. As he sees the situation, manufacturers in the United States have now the best opportunity in their existence to take legitimate advantage of the South American needs.

Locking Bolts
Spring washers should never be used in connection with connecting rod ends or with main bearing bolts
because these washers have a habit
of snapping in two on occasion, leaving the nut loose. The best method of locking these parts
is by using lock washers.

WINTERSBURG OCEANVIEW SCHOOL IS CLOSED AGAIN

Influenza Cases Increase; Red Cross Auxiliary Elects
New Officers

(Miss Leora Blakey, Correspondent)
WINTERSBURG AND SMELTZER,
Dec. 20.—The Oceanview school closed
Wednesday noon for an indefinite time on account of the rapidly increasing number of influenza cases in the community.

This is the fourth week since the opening of the school and although the attendance has been growing smaller it was hoped that it would not be necessary to close.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Graham and son, Walter Graham, and wife, motored to Puente Wednesday morning where the ladies remained for the day with relatives, while their husbands drove on to Los Angeles, returning in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Gothard motored to Los Angeles Sunday, where they were guests for the day of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Edwards.

Nursed Eight Flu Victims
Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Graham reached home Tuesday evening after a week
spent at Blythe caring for members of the family who were ill with influenza.

One after another took the disease
until eight were down with it, their son, Riley Graham, a nephew, Marian Graham, wife and three children, Ray and Howard Graham, all having it at once. Riley Graham and Mrs. Marion Graham were both very low and the latter is still very ill, as she has double pneumonia.

Riley Graham is still very weak, but is safely on the road to recovery.

Mrs. Riley Graham and an uncle, Frank Graham, were the only ones at the ranch who did not contract the disease.

Misses Louise and Ruth McGowen
of Santa Ana also went out to the ranch last Saturday to remain over Christmas with their parents, who are farming there, and both took down
with the influenza the following day.

Charles Graham, a brother of J. J.
Graham, his wife and son, Marshall,
of North Whittier Heights, who were also called to the valley to assist in the care of the sick, returned Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Graham, bringing with them their son, Howard Graham, who was then convalescent.

have been with Miss Ethel Graham of the ranch here during Mr. and Mrs.
Graham's absence, returned to Puente Friday.

Auxiliary Business Meeting
A business meeting of the local Red Cross auxiliary was held on Thursday afternoon the past week at the Red Cross rooms and the election of officers was held.

Mrs. Harry Woodington was elected chairman of the society, succeeding Mrs. C. M. Ross, who has faithfully filled this position the past year and Mrs. A. H. Moore was elected to the joint office of secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Woodington has not appointed her committee chairman as yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Oran Hanlon of Tus-tin were Sunday visitors at the home of their daughter, Mrs. V. Maynard, and family.

C. N. Davis, who is employed as overseer of the El Monte celery shipping, came home Saturday evening
and remained over Sunday with his family.

Mrs. Chris Nelson was reported as slightly improved Wednesday morning following several days' illness with influenza. Her daughter, Leola, it was feared, was also taking the disease.

John Cady Has Attack
Mrs. John Cady has received a letter from her husband who is at their ranch at Brawley, saying he was having a light attack of the influenza. He had been living on fruit juices alone

for three days and was using various methods trying to prevent serious consequences. The man and wife who are on his place both have the disease in a more severe form and Cady had contracted it from them.

Geo. McGirk has his machine in the shop having it repainted and a new top put on.

Mrs. Moore Sells 20 Acres
Mrs. Elizabeth Moore has sold her twenty acres to a Mr. Berry of Modesto, the deal having been finished
Thursday last week.

Mr. Berry and wife are friends of Mr. and Mrs. Cook who live on the Keseman place and spent several days
here while looking over the country.
As soon as the deal was made they returned to Modesto and will move down soon. They have rented the McCo-r house and will reside there until they erect a house on their new property
which improvement they are planning.

Mr. and Mrs. V. Maynard entertained as over-night guests at their home Wednesday, Mrs. Maynard's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Williams and four children of Tustin.

Rev. C. M. Ross spent Monday and Tuesday in Los Angeles while attending the preachers' meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cook and Mr.
and Mrs. Kent Cook of the San Joaquin Fruit ranch, were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barnes.

B. A. Farrar, G. M. Roberson and
E. Ray Moore were business visitors in Huntington Beach, Wednesday.

Miss Estelle Vanduff returned home Monday from Pomona, Claremont College, having been closed on account of influenza and on Wednesday she took a light attack of the disease.

Mrs. W. F. Slater was called to Los Angeles Tuesday as her little son, Fred
who is there, was slightly indisposed.
Mrs. Slater expected to remain away
several days.

Mrs. Pratt and little daughter, Mrs.
G. M. Roberson, and mother, Mrs. Jerusia Harlan, drove to Santa Ana Tuesday with Mrs. E. Ray Moore in her new car.

Christmas Program Planned
The Christmas program which has been planned for next Sunday at the local Methodist church will be carried out as intended unless the influenza epidemic, which is again threatening to become serious here, should spread to such an extent by that time that it will be advisable to discontinue services.

An entertainment by members of the Sunday school has been planned for the regular Sunday school hour, 10 o'clock, and will be followed with intermission by a talk by the pastor, Rev. C. M. Ross, to the children taking as his subject, "Unto Us a Child Is Born," the scripture text being Isa. 9:6.

The children are asked to bring with them any discarded books or toys
which they would like to give to some less fortunate child and these will be taken to the deacons' home in Los Angeles to be distributed by settlement workers at Christmas time.

It is also hoped each person attending the service will come prepared to give a generous contribution for the Armenian and Syrian relief work as the collection for this will be taken at the Christmas service.

On Sunday evening Rev. Ross will speak on the familiar Christmas text,
"Peace on Earth," which at this Christmas season is doubly appropriate.

The solicitors for the Red Cross Christmas membership drive for this district are Mrs. A. H. Moore, Mrs. R.
L. Draper and Mrs. B. F. Gothard. The ladies divided the district between them and began the drive Tuesday of this week. Good success, has so far crowned their efforts.

AUTO PARKING LARGE PROBLEM

"Hello, Bill," said the traffic officer,
after halting several thousand dollars'
worth of vehicles east-bound. "I was just watchin' that feller over there parkin' his car. He seen there wasn't enough room for 'is car because them
other cars was there so he went an'
moved three or four so he could git 'is car in there. This makes it pretty hard for them other fellows when they come out of that building to drive their cars away. Lookit, Bill, they're so close to each other—some of them
touchin'—I don't know how them fellows are gona git out.

LISTEN! BOYS and GIRLS

TUESDAY, we are going to give away 500
Christmas presents—$250 in Savings Accounts and five hundred sturdy little steel banks will be distributed to the first five hundred little men and little women, between the ages of eight and fifteen years, who come to this bank between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m., Tuesday, December 24th.

This bank believes that boys and girls should have real live and growing savings accounts of their very own. We are not going to preach or tell you a long story about Thrift, but we are going to make you a little business proposition which will mean money to you and lots of fun too.

Come to this bank Tuesday—sign a signature card, just like the big folks do when they open a bank account, and we will make you a Christmas present of one of our pretty little shiny steel banks and a savings account pass book, showing a deposit of fifty cents to your credit.

The fifty cents is yours and draws 4% compound interest for you besides, providing you save some of the pennies, nickels and dimes which you earn or have given to you, and deposit a total of at least $5.00 during the year 1919 in the Savings Account which we have given you.

Now, there may be more than 500 boys and girls in and about Santa Ana not under eight years of age nor over fifteen, who want to possess a bank account and own one of these dandy little banks. If there are, there will not be banks and savings accounts enough to last until three o'clock. We will be very sorry to disappoint anyone; so our advice is to be right on hand the minute the bank opens Tuesday.

California National Bank SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA.

NOTICE TO PARENTS:—We believe you will approve of the preparations we have made to keep the children interested in saving money wisely and spending money intelligently during the coming year, and we want to enlist your co-operation in having the children here Tuesday.

A bank, to our way of thinking, should be more to the people of a community than merely a money warehouse and this effort to interest the children in banking is but one evidence of our wish to serve constructively.

Dave's Grocery CORNER SECOND AND LACY STREETS

Dave says there are so many places for our dollars these days. The Red Cross, the Salvation Army Xmas Fund, and War Relief work of all kinds. Then perhaps there is a payment or two to make on our bonds and a few dollars for Xmas presents. This is surely the time to cut expenses. Let us help you.
